

Salatiso Mdeni <salatiso.mdeni@gmail.com>

Lukhanyo

4 messages

Mpho Mkosana <mphosuperstar@gmail.com>
To: Salatiso Mdeni <salatiso.mdeni@gmail.com>

Sat, Oct 5, 2019 at 4:54 PM

Hi

I'm considering taking Lukhanyo to Crèche 2-3 times a week, next year, in the morning (8-11am) I think he will benefit from the mental stimulation. Your thoughts?

Also his t-shirt that he was wearing did not come.

Salatiso Mdeni <salatiso.mdeni@gmail.com>
To: Mpho Mkosana <mphosuperstar@gmail.com>

Sat, Oct 5, 2019 at 9:17 PM

Good day

I don't agree, not at least until he is 3.

He'll come with the T Shirt next weekend.

Regards,
Salatiso

[Quoted text hidden]

Mpho Mkosana <mphosuperstar@gmail.com>
To: Salatiso Mdeni <salatiso.mdeni@gmail.com>

Sun, Oct 6, 2019 at 8:50 AM

I agree he's young but Lukhanyo has a very inquisitive mind and picks up on concepts very quickly hence I feel he would benefit from those three hours twice a week of stimulation.

[Quoted text hidden]

Salatiso Mdeni <salatiso.mdeni@gmail.com>
To: Mpho Mkosana <mphosuperstar@gmail.com>

Sun, Oct 6, 2019 at 9:06 AM

Good day

Which is why he needs family care and attention to nurture him. It worked for me and even though I did not go to creche by the time I went to school I could speak, read and write. Consequently I was top of my class my whole life, a model we have emulated for Solo. He is also top of his class consistently, as such Milande and Mila are subject to the same 24/7 family care and attention which has consistently yielded positive outcomes.

Since you have opted to raise Buggz according to your way of thinking you can continue in such manner but I do not agree. I do hope however you have empirical evidence on outcome not input. I base my decisions on Buggz on experience, education and best practice.

Until Buggz turn 2 I have opted to allow you to do as you see fit. That is my stance on the issue and it will not change unless circumstances change.

Regards
Salatiso

[Quoted text hidden]